FIVE CENTS

which lie beneath the feet of the people of Ontario. In order to discover the best means of developing a given industry, it is necessary that it should be carefully studied, and all the facts relating to it gathered together. Particularly is this the case with the mining industry of the Province, which in its present state, as compared with what it will ultimately be, is as the infant in the cradle to the strong man.

We can scarcely begin to form an adequate conception of the extent and richness of our mineral resources. By far the larger portion of the area of the Province is as yet unsurveyed, a wilderness for the most part known only to the wandering Indian or nomad trapper. What stores of mineral there may be in these untrodden wilds, no one can tell, but so far as the hardy explorer has ventured into their depths, the reports bear out the belief that the vast deposits of gold, silver, iron, copper and nickel occurring in the known districts are equalled in richness and extent by those lying undiscovered and unclaimed in the remoter regions. But within the past three or four years, great discoveries have been made in the more accessible parts of the Province; the world's supply of nickel has been found; gold, silver, iron light where their existence was scarcely suspected before, and fresh discoveries are being made almost daily. In fact the great need of the mining industry of Ontario today is not more mineral, but more development. One mine in operation is worth more to the country at large than a hundred locations, however rich, allowed to remain in a state of nature, and a leading mine of the Bureau of Mines will be to interest capitalists and others by placing before them in systematic form reliable information as to the actual mining capabilities of the Province.

The collection of mining statistics will be another of its duties, statistics which will embrace not only those of production and value, but of the cost of labor, provisions, rates of freight, and all the other factors affecting profit and loss upon which capitalists require to satisfy themselves before risking their money in the work of development.

No doubt the Bureau will also in time gather together a collection representative of the ores of the Province, one which will exhibit the geological conditions under which the various minerals occur. A collection of this kind, with the specimens properly classified and described, could not fail to be of great educational value. The mineral wealth of Ontario is not by any means confined to what are disti-tively known as the "mineral regions." Salt, petroleum, gypsum, natural gas, peat, phosphate, marl, building and ornamental stone, brick tiles and a coarser class, also, occur in valuable deposits in various parts of the Province. As to some of these materials, the localities to which they are confined appear now to be pretty well known, but as to others, such as natural gas, phosphate, and clay suitable for making pressed bricks, and ornamental mouldings, research is at the present time bringing to light new promising fields. The question of natural gas, for instance, is one beginning to assume importance, and the advantages being taken in one or two places of this result of nature's beneficent forces for economic purposes.

It will be the duty of the Bureau to collect and publish all available data on subjects such as these, as well as to afford, where practicable, the information bearing on the occurrence of minerals in particular localities. The question of a geological survey of the Province is exceedingly important one, and by many it is felt that Ontario, which has to bear so large a proportion of the Dominion Geological Survey, does not receive the share of attention to which it is entitled. The Bureau has not as yet the funds at its disposal which a systematic survey would require, but it is hoped that a beginning even in this direction may be attempted. The inspection of mines under 53 Vic. chap. 10, is carried on by Mr. A. Slaght, of Waterford, the efficient Inspector.

Though as yet in its infancy, the Bureau of Mines gives distinct promise of being an invaluable factor in the promotion of the mining industry of Ontario. It is in the hands of an able Director, and we have every reason to anticipate that the future operations of the Bureau will be such as to more than justify its organization, and the expenditure of the comparatively small sum annually which it entails upon the Province.

THE SULTANA

Two men on this property is being pushed vigorously under the direction of Mr. J. E. Hildreth. Day and night shifts are taking care out of vein No. Two as fast as men can handle it. Upwards of two hundred tons have already been moved and from thirty to fifty tons a day are being shipped to the Reduction Works. The owner of the property is Mr. J. F. Caldwell, of Yanning, and the editor of The Kognon visited the mine on Wednesday. A very comfortable camp has been erected for the men, besides a blacksmith shop and other requirements necessary for successful mining.

KNIGHTS

—Another sale of mining property is pending with good prospects of being closed at an early date.

—Attention is directed to the article on the Bureau of Mines on this page. Score another scoop for Turkestan.

—Mr. Ri Linn, President of the Lake of the Woods Gold and Silver Reduction Works Co., went to Winnipeg, yesterday morning to attend a meeting of the Directors of the Co., called for the purpose of completing arrangements for running the Works full blast. Mr. J. P. Clarkin, the secretary of the Co., went to Winnipeg at the same time.

—The Reduction Works have been making a number of tests this week, and it is expected that a full gang of men will at once be put on and the Works started running full blast on Monday morning. There is now considerable ore on the dock, which is being increased daily from the Sultana mine, the operators of which are getting anxious to see the Works treat their ore.

THANKSGIVING

Last Thursday was universally observed throughout the Dominion as a day of general thanksgiving. Primarily the day originated with the idea of returning thanks to the all-bountiful Creator for sending the rain and the sunshine that seedtime might be followed by an abundant harvest. Locally we are not tillers of the soil, except in a small way still our business success depends very largely upon the products of the farm. We produce lumber and sell it to the agriculturist; we have the best power to grind his wheat; we extract the precious metals from the rocks; and the farmer gets his pay therefrom to feed us. Does the soil produce abundantly? our business is increased—if sparingly we feel a corresponding depression. While the results of the farmer's labor is enhanced in value by the increase of other products and the multiplication of other enterprises he could do better without us. Therefore we could without him. Therefore let lumberman, miner, miller, railroad, merchant and manufacturer rejoice with the agriculturist and give thanks for the munificent bounties of a Divine Providence.

Minna's Thanksgiving

Little muskies once there was
Who heard her mother say
Upon a bright November morn:
"This is Thanksgiving Day."
In Little Minna grateful heart,
That morn'g, a surprise came o'er
That it was Thanksgiving Day,
I know what I will do."

She wrapped her in a cloak so warm
And hid her little hood,
Then she went down to Minna's room
As quickly as she could.

And straight she went to where the cows
Stood, each within its stall;
And said, and skirted them sales-the white
To come to thank you all.

"I know you give us every day
The finest sweet milk to drink,
And cream and butter, too, and cheese;
You're very good, I think."

Then Minna crossed the barn, to speak
To Dick, the good old horse;
And said, "You give me every chunk
I'll thank you too, of course."

"No matter what the time of year,
You work and work all day,
In spring you take the heavy plough,
In summer loads of hay you haul."

"You take the bags of grain to mill,
You bring the four back to me,
And from the forest cart the wood,
However long the task."

"For all these things, you dear old Dick,
For giving me thanks to pay,
I thought it when most grateful it
This is Thanksgiving Day."

Then down the dust and dusty barn
Did Minna trip along
To where the sheep were huddled close,
A smile and nod she brought.

She patted them with loving hand,
This sheep stood nearest;
"Thank you for all you warm, warm fleeces,
I'll reward the little lamb."

With smiling face, and having said
Her words, she thought next
Next to the farmyard Minna went
Her feathered friends to find.

With cluck and cackle, all the hens
Soon gathered at Dick's feet;
And said, "Thank you for all the eggs
You've given me to eat."

Then Little Minna ran again
Across the sparkling snow,
And soon was at her mother's side
With smile and heart so true.

"I've been and thanked them, mother dear,
As nicely as I could;
The cows, the sheep, the hens and Dick-
I think they understood."

"For they all listenest quick
To what I say and do,
And Dick I think you could have seen
The way he bowed his head."

They might have thought it very strange
If it had given cause
And he had stayed longer to them
Upon Thanksgiving Day!"

A Severe Attack

DEAR SIRS.—My children were taken ill with ulcerated sore throats, bordering on diphtheria. I had nothing in the house but Hagarde's Yellow Oil, which I used with great benefit. I am sure if it had not been for it the disease would have developed into diphtheria. It is a splendid medicine.

TOWN TOPICS.

The steamer Dr. J. Mather was loaded up on Mr. G. P. Phillips's machine ship this week.

Messrs. Ross, Hall & Brown sent their last crew of men to the lumber woods on Monday.

The Thanksgiving service in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening was well attended. A collection was taken for home missions.

Mr. Frank Hudson, working with Mr. W. R. Gorrie, had the misfortune to have the first joint of the right finger cut off by a robbing machine last evening.

The steamer Komina arrived on Thursday from Rat Portage having in tow the barge Bertha. McKay had on board $50,000 feet of lumber from Messrs. J. L. Hughes & Co.'s mill.

Our advertisements are steadily increasing. Mr. J. P. Phillips, of the Snowflake Bakery, is added to the list this week. He makes regular free delivery daily in Rat Portage and in Norman three times a week.

There was a large meeting of the Christian Endeavor on Monday evening. The subject was a missionary one. Mrs. McKay read an able paper on mission work in Peru. In next week's issue we will give some extracts from it.

The Ladies Aid of Knox church gave a dinner and tea in Campbell's hall, Main street, on Thanksgiving day. As the ladies assisting in catering are favorably known, they were well patronized. There was also a children's social in the same connection last evening.

Sheriff Carpenter received word yesterday morning that there would be no sitting of the District Court on the 21st inst. The sheriff had fitted up the court room with new seats, carpeted the sides and provided a better convenience for jurors. After all his trouble the sheriff is not pleased that there should be no court. Judge Lyon has been authorized to try the White case.

While moving the barge Bertha McKay for night on the 6th inst., at the east end of Foulon Island, a man named John Larose, while in the act of lashing a line, fell backwards into the water, between the steamer Komina and the barge, and but for the rescue of a young man named Alexander McIntyre, Larose would very probably have been drowned. The young man McIntyre displayed a great deal of courage and energy, and deserves a great deal of credit for the plucky act.

Carrying out the custom established in previous years by the C.P.R. that company again announced their return excursion for this year. These excursions will be run daily from the 1st to the 30th December inclusive, and the rate from Rat Portage to all points in Ontario and Quebec, Montreal and west is $40. Equally low rates are being made to points in Quebec east of Montreal, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward's Island. These tickets are good for ninety days and can be extended for a further period on payment of a small additional amount.

Interested in the coming municipal elections is pastor M. W. Young says positively he will not be a candidate for reelection to the office of Reeve. This leaves the field open to new aspirants. Of the present council Messrs. A. Campbell and H. Belmont are mentioned in connection with the Reeve ship, but neither seem inclined. Mr. H. F. Holmes has been asked to run but positively declines. Other possible candidates are Mr. J. M. Savage and Mr. C. W. Chadwick. Though it is thought these two would not be opponents. Mr. D. C. Cameron's name has also been mentioned in connection with the Reeve ship, but we understand he would decline a nomination. It is thought that none of these named "would oppose" Mr. Savage if he were a candidate. In connection with the offices of council there is not yet much interest manifested. The names of Councilors Rideout, Campbell and Nash are spoken of for reelection, and how men suggested are Messrs. C. W. Boyle, J. R. Boyd, J. R. Dwyer, and no doubt there will be others as the day of nomination approaches. One important point that the electors should guard against, that is to be careful about placing their votes with they know who, will really be candidates and what their views are on the important questions that affect the municipality. The time has arrived when incorporation as a town is a necessity, and the new council should comprise our best and ablest men.

The roof is being put on the new registry office.

Capt. Mosher has secured the contract for carrying the mail between Rat Portage and Rainy river points.

Knox church services on Sunday will be at 11 and 10 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. R. Nairn, B.A., will preach morning and evening.

The services in the Methodist church tomorrow will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Jamieson in the morning and by Mrs. Jamieson in the evening.

A bazaar social will be given by Rat Portage Council, No. 68, R. T. of T., in Campbell's hall, Main st., on Friday evening, Nov. 24th, to represent the past and present. Tickets will be dressed in costume. Tea will be served from 4.30 to 20 o'clock. Tickets 25 cents. A good program will be rendered during the evening.

The special evangelistic services held in the Methodist church, this week have been productive of deep spiritual interest. On Tuesday evening the subject of discourse was "popular amusements" by Mrs. Jamieson, and she handled it well. On Wednesday Rev. Mr. Jamieson replied to some questions propounded by letter, and on Thursday evening there was a song service. Last night the subject was "gambling." The meetings will be continued next week.

An interesting service was held in St. Alban's church on the evening. The choir under Mr. H. Carpenter, organist, rendered the special musical service in a very creditable manner. Rev. Mr. Fortin, the pastor, preached as his text Job 12, 8, "Speak to the earth and it shall praise the Lord." After mentioning the many national and individual blessings enjoyed during the year, especially the abundant harvest, he forcibly impressed upon his hearers the Christian duty of thankfulness. Giving of our substance for charitable works or for the support of church ordinances should emanate from a sincere love of God and not from a desire of self-glory or pretence of man. The offering, which was for the home mission fund, was a liberal one.

ADDRESSED, DESKED, CANED AND CASED.

Mr. E. C. Magee, having decided to leave country next night, a number of his intimate personal friends, feeling themselves "the boys," waylaid and surprised him by presenting him with a handsome gold-headed cane and a beautiful dressing case, accompanied by a very complimentary address. After the special service in the Methodist church the same night Mr. Magee was called to the front and Mrs. Magee read the following: To E. C. Magee, president Zion Methodist church, Epworth League: Dear Sir and Bro.,—We, the officers and members of the League, avail ourselves of the present opportunity, on this the eve of your departure from our midst, of giving expression to the feelings of high esteem in which you are held as president.

We gladly bear you, grateful testimony to the real, fidelity and success with which your energetic duties have been discharged in the past, and rejoice in the growing prosperity of the League, which is largely due to your self-denying efforts and faithful attention to the work.

It is gratifying that our intercourse with you has been of the most pleasant and happy character, and trust that it may ever continue.

Accept as a slight recognition on our part, of your faithful services, this writing desk and dresser.

We sincerely trust that, wherever your lot in life may be cast, the blessings and prosperity of an all-wise Providence may be yours.

Signed, O. B. of the League, C. E. NEADS, Secretary.

Mr. E. A. Peterson made the presentation. The dresser was an excellent oxidized silver one and the desk, buy rosewood. Mr. Magee replied in appropriate terms thanking the League for their handsome presentation.

The Epworth League was organized with Mr. Magee as the president, and was so earnestly and efficiently discharged his duties that the church will greatly miss him.

THE HILLIARD HOUSE,

RAT PORTAGE,

Lake of the Woods.

This hotel has recently undergone extensive alterations and additions, having now seventy-five elegantly furnished rooms, hot and cold baths, electric light and electric bells in rooms.

Suits of rooms for families may be secured in advance by telegraph. Four well arranged sample rooms for commercial travellers. Free bus meets all trains.

The new bar and billiard room is situated in the large basement and is delightfully cool in warm weather.

The Hilliard House is so complete in every way to meet the requirements of tourists, it stands second to none in the Dominion.

Those who wish for health combined with the sight of the beautiful should come to Rat Portage. It can be said by those who have visited the Lake of the Woods: "Mine eyes beheld new pleasures while the landscape round it measures," and the breezes of the lake combined with the fragrance of the pine land their kindly influence to the reinvigorating of our system.

Mr. Hilliard has made arrangements with the proprietor of the steamer Kennia to furnish tickets to guests for excursions on the lake at the low rate of fifty cents per day.

LOUIS HILLIARD, Proprietor.
